Please note that in past years, it has been a common practice for excessive numbers of guests to stay in rooms intended for fewer numbers. This will no longer be permitted, and our house security team will be making spot-checks to insure compliance with this policy. Enjoy your stay and thank you for choosing the Royal Infesta Hotel!

P.S. Don't forget to set up the usual warning alarms for those feeble house detectives!

Win-a-bagel™ Recreational Magic Carpet Operating Instructions

Win-a-bagel™ Recreational Carpets feature a unique Auto-Magic Transmission™ mechanism that allows even the most unmagically-inclined driver to control its flight.

In case of mechanical difficulty, simply pull the red Auto-Magic Failsafe Lever™ located in the forward right corner of the Win-a-bagel™ Recreational Carpet. The carpet will immediately execute a safe landing. After such a landing, do not attempt to fly the vehicle again until it has been checked out by a Win-a-bagel™ authorized dealer.

NOTE: The magical properties of your Win-a-bagel™ Recreational Carpet are woven into the fibers of your vehicle. Do not attempt to unravel these fibers, as this could release the magical powers contained therein, with unpredictable and possibly dangerous results.

For routine maintenance, or in case of difficulty, visit only a Win-a-bagel™ authorized dealer.

Here are the directions to Fort Naughtytail. This is the only guaranteed safe route from SU to there, so don't deviate, you old deviate!

Vince

- After taking off, head east, following Barfton Road.
- When you get to Barmaid U, turn southeast.
- When you reach the ocean, go 5 more minutes, then turn south.
- When you reach the Island of Lost Soles, turn east.
- Continue until you catch sight of Point Blather. Now head northeast. You'll be over downtown F.N. in 10 more minutes.
- Then, don't forget to land, you dunce!
